Subject: Free Provisional Patent Course

Hi Tim,

My name is Andrew Knight – I'm a Registered Patent Agent and the creator of Do-It-Yourself Patent Course (tm). I'm writing to you because you are named as the contact for your inventors' group. I am offering a free product called Do-It-Yourself Provisional Patent (tm) that teaches inventors how to draft their own high-quality provisional patent applications. Currently, the free provisional course is available at www.patentdvd.com/provisional.htm in the form of several short online videos. The courses have received very good reviews from inventors.

If you think your members would benefit from this material, please feel free to pass it on. I also sell a course on drafting nonprovisional patent applications at www.patentdvd.com, but the provisional course is always free, no strings attached.

I received my masters degree in nuclear engineering from MIT and my law degree from Georgetown. I own 14 U.S. patents and 13 more pending applications, and have been helping inventors since 2001. Let me know if I can answer any questions. I am also available to speak and answer questions if I happen to be in your area.

Sincerely,
Andrew Knight, J.D.

As an inventor, I saved a bundle, not having to pay the exorbitant prices that patent attorneys would have charged. My drawings were approved at the first submissions.

I can help. I will do drawings for fellow inventors for a nominal $50.00 an hour using ACAD.

Samples of my work are available on request.

InventionHome launches MatchProduct.com, the first of its kind, FREE online marketplace for Innovative Products

Monroeville, PA – InventionHome announces the launch of MatchProduct.com, a unique, interactive marketplace where sellers of fully developed, innovative products can find buyers interested in wholesaling, licensing or acquiring new products.

MatchProduct.com has taken the product marketplace web-model to new heights by developing an interactive marketing solution, utilizing a hands-on, targeted "eAlert" strategy to stimulate interest between buyers and sellers. The marketplace does not rely solely on a 'post and wait' approach to introduce new products to prospective buyers. Rather, MatchProduct employs a marketing team who uses technology as a tool to target, match and contact users who have expressed interest in specific product categories.

"We recognize the enormous opportunity of providing an effective and easy platform for bringing together buyers and seller of innovative products", said Russell Williams, InventionHome's president. "Our goal was to use technology to create a unique, differentiated marketplace to make connections between buyers and sellers of innovative products."

The typical MatchProduct.com seller could be an inventor, entrepreneur or manufacturer with a fully developed, innovative product. Because a seller can list as many products as he or she wants at no cost, MatchProduct.com can be thought of as an additional 24/7 sales channel for businesses or inventors. A seller can also decide how he wants to structure a potential deal with a buyer by indicating whether wholesaling, licensing or an acquisition agreement is the preferred option. More importantly, listing products on the user-friendly site does not limit or commit a seller to accept any potential offer generated by MatchProduct. The seller pays a modest commission only if a deal is closed as a result of the MatchProduct.com marketplace. Retailers, wholesalers and manufacturers looking for innovative products to enhance product lines represent the average MatchProduct.com buyer. There are no fees to register, search or receive product "eAlerts" from MatchProduct.com

For more information on listing or searching for innovative, new products, please visit www.MatchProduct.com.

About InventionHome

InventionHome offers a low cost, low risk solution for helping inventors through the invention process. InventionHome has created a simple and streamlined process for connecting inventors with manufacturers for the purpose of licensing inventions for royalties. Most recently, they launched MatchProduct.com, a free marketplace for helping inventors and small companies with fully developed, innovative products to connect with retail, wholesale or manufacturers.

Hello,

I wanted to send you a quick e-mail and introduce myself. My name is Stephen Key and I am with inventright. We help educate inventors through free information that we provide on our website, our forum and resource center as well as through my blog on AllBusiness.com

The reason for my e-mail today is to invite you to our resource center and forum, both of which are completely free. We have gathered experts and experienced inventors from across the country to participate on our forum and resource center to help answer questions that you and your members may have about the inventing process. Please, when you have a minute check out my site and sign up for a free account on the forum. If you have a question ask it. Our experts are there to help.

Please visit us at: <http://www.inventright.com>
